

Remote-based interpreting – the future?

You've got an important meeting scheduled. Should you organise interpreters for foreign-language participants? It's too expensive, some say. Too complicated, say others. And yet others think it's far too cumbersome. But it could be so easy!

You don't use simultaneous interpreting today because it will make your event too expensive.

You don't use simultaneous interpreting because setting up interpreting booths is too much hassle for small-scale meetings.

You don't use simultaneous interpreting because you haven't got the time and resources to organise it.

We offer: flexibility/event management, cost reductions of over 20% and CO<sup>2</sup> reductions of over 80%.
